MORE "BURNING WORDS."

For the benefit of the Virginia Chronicle, Eureka Sentinel, and those other papers which took so much delight in copying Frank Pixley's articles on the Chinese question, we reproduce the antidote of the series, which we copy from the Argonaut of last Saturday, and we trust these "burning words" may not be without effect:

An intelligent Democrat met the writer the other day, and with sly sarcasm asked whether he thought he could come around gracefully before election day and support the Republican ticket, and whether it would be an easy task to explain away all his harsh utterances against the party leaders. We assured our Democratic office-holding friend from the South that if it became necessary, and the facts justified it, we thought it quite probable that our genius would enable us to accomplish even that difficult exploit. The Republican party has had an honorable career. It has accomplished patriotic results. It has leaders of intellectual capacity and great moral worth. It has a rank and file which embrace a majority of the best men of the nation, and it is destined to great future usefulness. It does not drop to pieces when leaders desert and dishonor it; it does not dissolve when these leaders become strong enough to violate a great principle. It is not destroyed when thieves break through and steal. It is only disturbed, and not ruined, when vanity and ambition control its councils, and when avarice, fraud, and accident obtain control of the executive office. Its strength lies in its general honesty of purpose, its high patriotism, its intelligence, and in its unselfish devotion to the country, as embodied in the great, thinking, earnest and honest mass of citizens who compose its working force. Having saved the life of the nation, and preserved the union of States, it is not distrustful of its ability to successfully administer the government of the country. It achieved victory in the civil war in spite of the incapacity of its early military leaders, in spite of political blunders, and in spite of the thieves that warmed around its armies, and the spies who endeavored to betray it. The Republican party outlived the treason of Johnson, and the mistakes and crimes of Grant. It survived Hayes, and it is possible that it may endure the accident of Arthur. The best service that an honest man can render his party is to expose its crimes and blunders; to attempt to correct its mistakes; to rebuke by outspoken words the efforts of its leaders to betray it, and to denounce with honest indignation the attempts of those whom it has placed in authority whenever they endeavor to depart from the guidance of the principles which underlie it. The Republican party will never deserve to die until there is a better party to take its place. The rank and file will never desert its standard until the flag is seized by worthier hands, who will bear it onward to more glorious victories. The rank and file may displace the incompetent and treacherous leaders, reduce them to the ranks, and tear the epaulets from their shoulders; it may drive them out of the party in shame and disgrace, or imprison them with ball and chain; but it need not go over to the combined Rebel and Irish Democracy to find statesmen to lead in council or patriots to hold office. Its soldiers need not go beyond their own ranks to find honest men competent to serve them, and they will not go to the Democratic party in this city or in this State until it is demonstrated that that party has come under the influence and control of respectable citizens. Not so long as its office-holders are hatched in the fermenting dunghill of the slums; not so long as an irresponsible mob of foreigners dictate its policy, and not so long as its rightful leaders lack the moral courage to stand up and resolutely endeavor to direct its organization in the interest of good government will Republicans join the Democratic party.

Among the noticeable incidents of Monday's Senate proceedings was the announcement by Plumb, of Kansas, that if he had been present last Friday he would have voted for the passage of the Chinese bill. This swells the number of thorough-going and reliable Republican friends of the bill in the Senate to ten.

Green B. Raum has lately intimated that he was a candidate for United States Senator from Illinois to succeed Davis, and Monday night the Peoria Transcript makes the authoritative announcement of his candidacy.

The admission of Lynch from Mississippi puts the first colored man in the House who has been there for six years. Lynch was formerly a member of the House, and possesses fair ability. We trust he will not clip his own ears.

The President has decided to put down the Indian outbreak in Arizona as soon as possible, and has so expressed himself to the Secretary of War, who has been instructed to take prompt and vigorous measures to that end. Orders have been issued for additional troops to proceed to the scene of the trouble, to aid the troops now there to prevent further violence and in bringing the hostilities to speedy justice. These reinforcements will consist of the First Infantry, now in Texas; the Fourth Infantry, on the Union Pacific Railroad, in the Department of the Platte; the Third Cavalry, also in the Department of the Platte, and the Ninth Cavalry, in the Department of the Missouri. The President is earnest in the matter, and, in the words of a prominent army officer, intends to make a clean sweep. The probabilities are that the troops in Arizona and New Mexico will be united in one command, under a Brigadier General yet to be assigned to that duty.

The election in Carson for three Trustees Monday passed off very quietly. The number of votes polled was very small, and but little interest was taken in the matter, there being no opposition to the Republican candidates. The next Board of Trustees will comprise Jacob Muller, John G. Fox, R. W. Bollen and Holdovers Benton and Gray.

It is said that the fact that David Davis voted for the Chinese bill is an indication that it will certainly be signed by the President. There is little doubt that the counsel of Judge Davis has greater influence with the President than that of any other Senator. He voted against the other Chinese bill.

The May public debt reduction during the past ten months of the fiscal year is about $120,000,000, or nearly double that of the corresponding months last year. It would have been greater but for the decreased internal revenue receipts, caused by agitation of the whisky tax question.

A private letter from ex-Governor Irwin to a member of the Sacramento delegation to the California Democratic State Convention which meets in San Jose, June 20th, says that he positively declines to be a candidate for Governor, but will be in the field for Congressman-at-large.

Charles Garfield, a cousin of the late President Garfield, is an applicant for the Marshalship of Idaho Territory. It is said that he has the indorsement of the entire Republican delegation in Congress from Ohio for the place. He is from Cleveland, Ohio.

De Lesseps has a new scheme, which is to cut a canal across the Isthmus of Kra, Siam, so as to shorten the distance between Calcutta and Hongkong about 900 miles, and add to the commercial importance of the city of Bangkok.

The Savoy Theatre, in London, is said to have the prettiest drop curtain of any theater in the world. It is of white satin, elaborately quilted by hand and cost $5,000.

President Arthur has done a graceful thing in appointing Mrs. Garfield's brother to a prominent position in the New York Custom House.

The estimated reduction in the public debt for April is about $14,000,000. The mission of the Republican party is not yet ended.

The Ormsby County Commissioners yesterday awarded the contract for doing the county printing to the Nevada Tribune.

The Utah Commissioners will not be named until the bill passes increasing their salary.

Senator Bayard has contributed to the Christian Union a short letter on success in public life, in which he states his conviction that such success does not at all involve disregard of the canons of punctiliously honorable action. He says of the young American who engages in politics that "the discovery of such weakness and unworth may often pain and disappoint him and he may weary of the work and long for rest; but his hands can be clean and his soul as white at the end of the journey as when he set out upon it."

The Indians to be Wiped Out.

The President has decided to put down the Indian outbreak in Arizona as soon as possible, and has so expressed himself to the Secretary of War, who has been instructed to take prompt and vigorous measures to that end. Orders have been issued for additional troops to proceed to the scene of the trouble, to aid the troops now there to prevent further violence and in bringing the hostilities to speedy justice. The probabilities are that the troops in Arizona and New Mexico will be united in one command, under a Brigadier General yet to be assigned to that duty.

Arthur's Newspaper Observations.

The President remarked to a friend a day or two ago that he had just begun to realize how virulent the newspapers can be in their denunciation and abuse of objectionable official acts or unsatisfactory measures adopted by a Legislature. He had observed in New York, for instance, how newspapers would oppose and bitterly attack men and things they might happen to dislike or disapprove, but there always a few who would take the other side. His experience recently is different. The papers of the Pacific Coast are unanimous in denouncing him because he vetoed the Anti-Chinese bill, and there are no exceptions to the rule.

The election in Carson for three Trustees Monday passed off very quietly. The number of votes polled was very small, and but little interest was taken in the matter, there being no opposition to the Republican candidates. The next Board of Trustees will comprise Jacob Muller, John G. Fox, R. W. Bollen and Holdovers Benton and Gray.

He says of the young American who engages in politics that "the discovery of such weakness and unworth may often pain and disappoint him and he may weary of the work and long for rest; but his hands can be clean and his soul as white at the end of the journey as when he set out upon it."

The admission of Lynch from Mississippi puts the first colored man in the House who has been there for six years. Lynch was formerly a member of the House, and possesses fair ability. We trust he will not clip his own ears.

The President has decided to put down the Indian outbreak in Arizona as soon as possible, and has so expressed himself to the Secretary of War, who has been instructed to take prompt and vigorous measures to that end. Orders have been issued for additional troops to proceed to the scene of the trouble, to aid the troops now there to prevent further violence and in bringing the hostilities to speedy justice. These reinforcements will consist of the First Infantry, now in Texas; the Fourth Infantry, on the Union Pacific Railroad, in the Department of the Platte; the Third Cavalry, also in the Department of the Platte, and the Ninth Cavalry, in the Department of the Missouri. The President is earnest in the matter, and, in the words of a prominent army officer, intends to make a clean sweep. The probabilities are that the troops in Arizona and New Mexico will be united in one command, under a Brigadier General yet to be assigned to that duty.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Connecticut House has rejected the Senate bill providing for a Board of Pardons.

The two wings of the Democratic party of Tennessee have issued a joint call for a State Convention on June 20.

A business letter from Maine to a gentleman in Boston says that the Republicans there still hope to induce Mr. Blaine to run for Governor.

The Republican fathers in Ohio got together and tried to talk cheerfully on the local situation the other day, but the atmosphere was a good deal saturated with solemnity. The State Convention will be held early in June.

A call has been issued in New Hampshire for a "People's" convention, to meet at Concord on the 2d of May, "to take such action as may be wise to secure the enforcement of the prohibitory and all other laws of the State."

Democratic prospects in Pennsylvania are stated concisely by The Doylestown Democrat when it says that: "A very trifling thing is needed next fall for the Democrats to carry the State—only a little 'horse sense.' We hope they will look about them and pick up this desirable article."

The Temperance Constitutional amendment has been defeated in the Connecticut House of Representatives. A two-thirds vote was needed to pass it. One hundred and fifteen votes were passed in its favor—ten short of the number required. Only fifteen votes were cast against it, but 119 members did not vote at all.

The suggestion is made in Ohio that ex-President Hayes be nominated for Congressman-at-large if it becomes necessary to elect a member in that way. The Columbus Journal indorses the suggestion as a capital one, and says that "the time is opportune for Hayes once more to lead the Republican host to victory."

It is poetical justice that Pat Dowling is again the Toledo Postmaster. Four years ago, notwithstanding his professions of devotion to the soldier and his desire to retain good men in office, the gentleman who was then President—Hayes was his name—removed Dowling, through all the leading merchants of Toledo petitioned for his retention.

The South Carolina Bourbon organs agree that it is impossible so to restrict that State as to make sure of electing a solid Democratic delegation to Congress. The only difference of opinion seems to be as to the wisdom of convoking the Legislature and making the best gerrymander possible, or of resorting to the usual methods of carrying the State and Congressional elections.

The Republicans have a queer way of forming State and other conventions in Pennsylvania. Only ten of the sixty-seven counties, it is said, will choose delegates to the coming State convention by representative county or district conventions, and in fifty-five counties the committee appointed for a very different purpose last year will name the delegates. Thus the machine takes power from the people.

The opinion is held by some prominent Republicans in Indiana that the party should take a decided stand in favor of submitting the prohibitory amendment to the people. The Democratic party, especially outside of Indianapolis, is not a unit in favor of free whisky, and it is argued that many votes will be lost to it for its attitude on the question. Besides, as one gentleman remarked, "the Republican party can never bid as low for the saloon vote as the Democratic party can."

That Correspondent.

The Carson Appeal evidently knows what it is talking about when it says: "The Carson correspondent of the Silver State evinces a peculiar originality in making up his letters to that journal, inasmuch as the material of which they are composed is made out of whole cloth. The Silver State is an ably conducted paper, and its management in accepting contributions to its columns from abroad would do well to scrutinize more closely the antecedents of those from whom it receives information. It certainly would not knowingly allow a disappointed bribe-seeker to use its space in denunciation for such vain attempts; it would in no way receive as sincere even anti-monopoly sentiments coming from an individual the soles of whose boots are worn thin from frequent trips to a 'monopoly' office, and the outward covering of the knees bearing evidence of having 'crooked the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrive may follow fawning.' In other words, having just claims to respectability, it would scorn to make room for the utterances of one who would fain attempt to reach the 'sack' of those whom he assumes merit so much abuse."

The following is an extract from John Russell Young's speech at the Philadelphia Stylns Club dinner:

I feel almost a sense of reproach in leaving the press, even for the great honor which the President and Senate have conferred upon me. On that point I will say one word. I never sought and never desired this office, nor any office. The Chinese mission came to me in such a manner that its acceptance became a duty. Mr. Hayes asked me to go with the embassy which made the recent treaty. Domestic reasons compelled me to decline. President Garfield was good enough to think of me for the office, and among the most valued memories of my life is that Mr. Garfield sent me from his dying bed a message of friendship in connection with this office. These details may appear trivial and personal, and I dwell upon them only because, standing as I do in a company of journalists, I feel that I should give you a reason for withdrawing from the profession, in which I have spent all my years, and to which I am proud to belong. I accepted this mission because I felt the force of what my illustrious friend, General Grant, said when he urged upon me the acceptance, that circumstances gave me the opportunity of doing the country a service. I trust that I may not disappoint that expectation. If I fail the fault will be my own.

"The Chinese Must Go."

Deputy Assessor Stoddard was set upon yesterday by a lot of Chinese from whom he was endeavoring to collect poll taxes. Knowing that there were 22 at Morrell's, back of Huffaker's, he went up there, and served notice upon their employer. Charley then professed the receipts to the Celestials but they refused to take them, so he put them in their pockets, at their feet, and anywhere else he could get one on or near their person. Finally he threw one at the feet of a Chinaman who was working in the ditch, when that fellow raised his pick and struck at Stoddard. Charley dodged back to escape the blow, when the whole gang started for him, but drawing his six-shooter he held them at bay, until reaching his horse, about a block off, he mounted, and rode to town.

IMPROVE YOUR HERDS.

An Opportunity to do so at Small Expense.

In a late issue of the Silver State we notice the advertisement of the Central Nevada Live Stock Company, which is of interest to every cattle raiser in the country. The Silver State says the company, whose farms are situated in the eastern part of Humboldt county, have at great expense been importing short-horn cattle from the very best herds for some years past, and recently added to their already fine herds the celebrated herd of J. D. Carr, of Gabilan Rancho, California. This herd is mentioned in the National Live Stock Journal as among the very best in the country, and superior as regards pedigree and individual merit to all others on the Pacific Coast, one of the sires of the herd, Second Duke of Hillhurst, having been sold by Colonel W. S. King for $14,000, and another, the Duke of Airdrie, being the most celebrated short-horn ever imported from England.

Cattle raising for beef is now conceded to be one of the greatest industries of Northern Nevada and Eastern Oregon, the shipments from Winnemucca alone in the last year having amounted to over one million dollars in value. Cattle men are no longer dependent upon the San Francisco market, as buyers from Chicago now purchase cattle for shipment to the East. The great grazing grounds of Texas and Colorado are being steadily encroached upon by agriculturists, necessarily reducing the supply of beef cattle, while the demand is steadily increasing. In Nevada, Eastern Oregon and Southern Idaho, owing to climatic influences which limit the area that can be devoted to agriculture, cattle raising must continue to be one of the leading industries for generations. It is therefore of the greatest importance to stock men to improve their herds so as to make the business more profitable. The man who makes two grains of wheat grow where only one pound has been raised, is in the same category. Graded Durhams are conceded to be the best beef cattle known, and experience shows the fallacy of the ideas which prevailed regarding them, that they required rich pastures in Summer, and warm stables with plenty of hay in Winter, etc. They are the very best "rustlers," and instead of requiring more feed and care than mustang stock, actually keep in good condition on much less. The writer knows of an instance which came under his observation here last Winter, which proves the truth of what is stated. It was that of a graded Durham heifer, one of the very few in town, which, owing to the illness of her owner, was allowed to run at large and skinned for a living. She is fat enough now for beef, while mustang cattle with which she ranged are walking skeletons. Heretofore the infusion of good blood into herds has been very expensive, as it required a long purse to import good stock, but there is no longer any such excuse, as fine Durhams can be had right at home at reasonable prices, and the cattle raiser who does not embrace the opportunity to get one or more of them is grossly neglectful of his own interests.

Military Matters

The Reno Guard held another meeting last evening when the following non-commissioned officers were appointed: Orderly Sergeant, C. A. Lewis; First Duty Sergeant, J. A. Lewis; Second Duty Sergeant, M. T. Benham; Third Duty Sergeant, W. H. Winfrey; Fourth Duty Sergeant, Seymour Bryant; Quartermaster Sergeant, F. W. Hagerman. Corporals—A. E. Price, A. C. Bragg, C. H. Stoddard and F. C. Pollard. Armory Committee—Lieutenant S. W. Waggoner, Sergeant C. A. Loomis, George A. Rautkin. Auditing Committee—Lieutenant T. F. Laycock, W. A. Walker and M. J. Stimson. Investigating Committee—Lieutenant E. A. Bridges, H. Raynor and C. A. Little. Company drill next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at Kimball's Hall. The company will have a street drill before long, now that it is thoroughly organized, and this Fall the Reno Guard will send a rifle team into the field that will perforate the bull's-eye with any company in the State.

The Roop County Mines.

Mr. Olmstead, who has just arrived in Alturas from Round Hole, Roop county, tells the Independent that the mines near that place prospect very richly. The company of which L. W. Harris is a member intend pushing their claim during the coming Summer. One from the claim assays as high as $150 per ton.

Beautiful Gold.

The Plumas National of last Saturday says:
At the express office the other evening, we were shown something over 80 ounces of dust from the Leavitt claim at Newtown Flat. It is almost all coarse, the largest slug weighing $88, and ranging down from that to fine dust. It is the old lead, and there is no telling how much money the lucky owners will take out there this Summer. They are working eight or ten men at present.

EUREKA'S YIELD.

Points Developed in the Richmond—Albion Case.

According to the Carson Appeal the yield of the great ore bearing vein or zone of limestone at Eureka, Nevada, as developed in the Albion-Richmond hearing before Chief Justice Leonard, has been as follows:

Commencing at the east boundary of the Jackson, where the walls of this vein approach each other, within a foot, and extending westerly 4,500 feet, to east line of the Albion, known as line A, dividing the Albion from the Richmond, the gross yield has been in round numbers $41,500,000, or an average of $9,250 per foot of vein.

Commencing at east end of the Jackson, where the vein is very narrow, and extending for 800 feet to the Phoenix, and along the Phoenix for 600 feet further, to east line of the K. K., the vein (widening as it approaches the K. K.) has yielded an average of about $2,350 per foot.

Through the K. K. up to the east line of Eureka Consolidated, a distance of 800 feet, the vein continues to widen and has yielded an average of $3,500 per foot.

Through the Eureka Consolidated mine from K. K. west to the east line of Richmond the vein is from 100 to 600 feet in width and has yielded $15,000 per foot.

From the west line of the Eureka Consolidated to the east line of the Albion, through the Richmond, a distance of 1,100 feet, the vein is from 400 to 800 feet wide and has yielded an average of $16,500 per foot. Thus showing conclusively that as this ore bearing zone, or vein increases in width between its walls, its yield has also increased in proportion to its width.

At the Albion line where it joins the Richmond, known as line A C, these large ore bodies, encountered in the latter mine, have continued and extended over and into the Albion ground for a considerable distance. The width of the vein or zone in the Albion, as far as developed or known, a distance of some 600 or 700 feet west of line A C, is from 800 to 1,000 feet wide, and yet in the hearing before Chief Justice Leonard, as to fixing amount of bond in writ of error, which the Richmond Company must give, they contend and insist that there is little or no ore in the Albion.

GOOSE LAKE NOTES.

(Modoc Independent.)

WILLOW RANCH, April 17, 1882.
The weather still continues cold and unfavorable for farming, but considerable grain has been sown notwithstanding.

The fish so far have made a very poor run, and comparatively few have been caught. Some two years ago a man paid L. Cannon $60 for the privilege of fishing within his enclosure. This year the same man fished there for $1 per day.

C. U. Snider thinks that he will not farm much this year.
A. Snider is expected to arrive here soon, and then we expect some changes to take place here, one of which will be a reduction in the rates of grinding. There is no good reason to believe that A. Snider will allow another mill to be built here just because the rates of grinding are more than the people can afford.

It now seems difficult to get mail matter from here to Alturas in a reasonable length of time. Of course none of the Postmasters are to blame.

CEDARVILLE CHIPS.

(Modoc Independent.)

CEDARVILLE, April 25, 1882.
We have had several snow storms during the week.

Farmers are about through seeding. Dr. Patterson has returned from San Francisco.

J. C. Welcome will go below in a short time to lay in a supply of harness, saddies, etc.

The citizens of Cedarville contemplate having a grand time on July 4th. Several teams left last week for Reno for goods for Haynes & Co., Kissler Bros. & Co., and the new firm about opening out here.

J. Monchamp has taken possession of his hotel, and would be pleased to see his old patrons.

The Cedarville Cornet Band go to Bidwell this morning. They furnish the music for the I. O. O. F. Celebration to be held there to-morrow.

A large number of the male population of Cedarville will visit Alturas next week, being summoned as jurors and witnesses.

Chance for Capital.

From the Plumas National, of Saturday last, we clip the annexed:

It is surprising that some company with a few thousands to invest does not put up a custom quartz mill in Granite Basin. Within a square mile or two of that section are fifty or sixty small ledges, all carrying good quartz and the owners would be only too glad to open them if they had any way of crushing the rock. A 40-stamp mill, centrally located, furnished with the modern improvements and facilities for treating the sulphurets, could and would be kept busy, and the owners could make very favorable terms for the rock. Some capitalist should look into this matter, and find a very profitable investment.
